NEW-YORK, WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 21.

PROTECTION AT THE SOUTH.

The following Editorial from a late Richmond Whig will be read with high gratification by the friends of American Industry. It puts important truths in plain and forcible language. Light is evidently breaking in upon the South, and the cause of Protection will not always have to bear up against the unbroken part of that section of the Union.

THE TARIFF... NEW VIEWS.

Considering that we always render our readers good service by inserting an able document upon any topic of public interest—whatever may be the particular views advanced—we have copied to-day a paper of that character upon the subject of the Tariff. Many of the views and suggestions will be new to the Virginia reader—for it has been the worst here to regard any word in favor of the Tariff damnable heresy. The odious term Tariff is No. 2 in Ritchie's famous category of State wars, which he has been mulling, with needless ruminations, for thirty years. "Bank, Tariff, Internal Improvement," or "Internal Improvement, Tariff, Bank," take it which way you will, it comes second in the list of abominations. The incessant clamor, rung with ceaseless din throughout all the borders of the Commonwealth, has had the effect to forestall the public judgement, and prevent all calm consideration of the subject. It may be, and we think it probable that it is so, that a majority of the people of Virginia, operated upon, unconsciously, by this clamor, or by some other cause, may dissent from most of the leading views of the paper which we publish. But dissent or not, the document is of a character which all thinking men will read with pleasure and profit—for its tendency is to suggest new trains of thought, and to enlarge and liberalize the mind.

Long and deeply steeped ourselves in the popular prejudice against the Tariff, our minds have not been entirely sealed to the revelations of experience. We affect not, however, to have wholly overcome that prejudice. But we have seen enough to occasion doubts, where before we thought there was absolute certainty. The bold and confident predictions promulgated respecting the operation of the Tariff, by distinguished statesmen, have been so completely falsified by results, that the most uncompromising opponent of the Tariff might well doubt the soundness of his conclusions. The whole North, with Mr. Webster in the lead, resisted the first Tariff—predicting that it would work the total prostration of Northern Commerce. The event disappointed their forebodings, and they have become, from bitter assailants, the advocates of the system. John Randolph, although supposed to be gifted with more than ordinary foresight, in opposing the Tariff of '16, prophesied that it would annihilate the revenue of the Government, and render a resort to direct taxation necessary to supply the daily wants. There is not a more remarkable instance of the fallacy of human judgement upon record. So far from the results predicted being realized, just the opposite effect ensued. The Treasury began to fill; the National Debt was speedily liquidated, and an immense surplus, notwithstanding an unprecedented prodigality in the Administration, was accumulated. Again it was confidently asserted that the high Tariff of '28 would arrest the production of Cotton in this country, and prohibit, altogether, the introduction of certain articles. But instead of this, Cotton never bore so high an average price for several years succeeding that act, and the articles expected to be excluded entirely, actually fell in price—while others, on which the duty has been reduced, have advanced. These and such like facts have caused us to doubt the justness of foregone conclusions, and we would not now—as we have done before—assert without qualification, that under the existing commercial regulations of the world, a high Tariff would not be beneficial to this country. But the fact is, there is no subject on which human reason is so liable to err, as that respecting the effects to be produced by the increase or diminution of duties. Here political economists are at fault, and with all their boasted science they are unable to devise any rules for the production of any fixed, certain and invariable results. The difficulty springs from the complicated and comprehensive character of the subject. That which to-day, from the lights before us, may be deemed calculated to lead to beneficial results, may by to-morrow produce effects just the reverse, in consequence of some new invention, or some new regulation abroad, by which the production of the particular article in question, may be increased or diminished.

All that we design by these remarks is to persuade the country, and our legislators particularly, to approach the consideration of this great question divested of passion and prejudice, and in a spirit of enlarged statesmanship and enlightened patriotism.

Correspondence of The Tribune.

BUFFALO, July 16, 1841.

Friend G.: I will tell you how I was mistaken in relation to the price of Flour. At the time I wrote you that Flour "was selling at $5 50, with a prospect of its going to $6," I heard a dealer who is selling a good deal of the article say that he had been offered that for a particular brand and refused. Ordinary brands were selling in lots at that time for $5—the retail price for Flour was then, and is now, $5 50—and while the article was on the rise, I do not know that persons were to be censured because they believed it would ascend instead of descend. The Commercial mistakes me entirely if it thinks I am one of the speculators who wish to advance the price of Flour by circulating false reports in relation to short coming crops. You know well enough that I have no particular interest in having the Wheat crop fail. Taking the country in the aggregate and I have no doubt but a full crop may be realized, but there are sections where there will not be half the usual crop. I have made sufficient inquiry to satisfy me that in Genesee and Erie Counties there will not be half the ordinary crop. I have not only made the inquiry, but I have been on the soil, and am satisfied, as well by the assurance of the growers as by personal observation, that the late rains will hardly affect the Wheat crop as much as you imagine, at least in this section.

The McLeod decision gives universal satisfaction in these parts. The question will come before the Court of Errors, which assemble here in August, and it will probably affirm the decision. I have no idea that McLeod will be convicted, if tried.

Our Recorder's Court is doing a 'smashing' business for these hard times; some sixty indictments have been found for various offences, and the Judge shows no quarter; he is bad hands for rascals to fall into; he will endeavor at this time to make a clean sweep among the keepers of houses of infamy, and the way he has commenced makes them shudder.

The traveling season is fairly open; the houses at the Falls are full, and a considerable many strangers are, and have been for a week or two, passing through town. Business continues light, and money as scarce as ever.

Yours, truly,

A GOOD EXAMPLE.—We heard Mr. Clay in a debate, a day or two since, upon the Loan Bill, remark, that for twenty or thirty years neither he nor his wife had owed any man a dollar. Both of them, many years gone by, had come to the conclusion that the best principle of Economy was this: "Never to get in debt; to indulge your wants when you are able to do so, and to repress them when you are not able to indulge them." The example is not only an excellent one for itself, but comes from a high source. To repress a want is one of the wisest, safest, and most necessary principles of Political Economy. It prevents not only the dangerous practice of living beyond the means, but encourages the safe precedent of living within them. If all who could, would live within their means, the world would be much happier and much better than it is. Henry Clay and his noble wife give us an example worthy of all imitation.

There is no noise or jar on board of her; the engine, being horizontal, is below deck, and moves very still, and is without any unpleasant smell. She has two large cabins and two saloons below deck; a ladies' saloon and two saloons for gentlemen on the main deck, and nineteen state rooms on the upper deck, with a hall 15 feet wide and 100 feet long for promenade between them. This hall is well sheltered, lighted and ventilated, and opens by double doors on the forward and after decks, affording a walk the whole length of the boat. The saloons and state rooms have each a bell leading to a hall where servants are in constant attendance.

The state rooms are 7 by 11 feet, and have double beds, and, when required, have two additional standing berths in each of them. A part of these rooms connect by folding doors, making a spacious parlor, where families and parties can have tea, supper or breakfast. The steamer OCEAN, Capt. J. E. Albion, will call on Monday at 10 o'clock, A. M., and on Saturday, at 4 P. M. The boat will run as above until further notice, navigation and weather permitting. N. [From the New World of March 20, 1841.]
SAUNDER'S PATENT METALLIC RAZOR STROP.—If the old-fashioned "Razors" and "Strops" can be satisfactorily put in any matter, it certainly can in the use of an instrument like this. We have had one in use for more than a year, and therefore speak with full knowledge when we assert that this is by all odds the best Razor Strop ever used—and we have had it used by the most skillful and experienced barbers in the city. What an edge it gives! how smooth and how fine! The razor, after being drawn across its surface a few times, glides over the face like water, and renders it as delicately soft as that of a Miss in her teens.

The Strop may be also recommended for its durability. It remains in excellent order, if properly taken care of, for years, and it can have its surface renewed when they are gone. To the properties of a good razor, it adds that of a hone, and one need not risk the spoiling of a good razor by committing it to the hands of a barber. Command us, we say, command us to Saunderson's Strop, and no other. If there be another in or out of this Republic equal to it in every respect within the reach of our not illudged observation, we will be glad to hear of it.

COLUMBIAN CREAM.—Refined on an entirely new principle.—This inestimable compound is the most valuable preparation yet discovered to afford ease and comfort in shaving. This principle of its manufacture embraces a complete neutralization of Alkali, the active presence of which is found in every other Soap. The absence, therefore, of this deleterious ingredient is itself a high recommendation. Added to this, it is composed of several delightful elements, producing a delicious softness of the skin, effectually removing a pimples in a few days, and answering as well with cold as with warm water. It is put up in convenient earthen boxes, from which it is used. A liberal discount will be made on wholesale purchases. Prepared and sold by WM. VAN EMBAG, Agent, 58 Fulton-street, New-York.

Sold by Lawrence, Keese & Co., Hoadley, Phelps & Co., P. Bawer & Co., Haydock, Corlies & Throston, and by Messrs. Co. H. Schaffell & Co., Ruskell & Aspinwall, John Meakin, 509 Broadway, Marshall C. Slocum, and all the principal Druggists and Apothecaries in the city.

IRON, LEAD, CAST-IRON, &c.—Veritas. Gold, Silver, Diamonds, Pearls; Things useful. More representatives of value.

CHAPMAN'S MAGIC RAZOR STROP. THE INDISPENSABLE. To all who care for ease and smooth Shaving.

Those of ray finish at $3.00 each, with little else to recommend them. Retail prices of the MAGIC STROP from 50 cents to $1.50 each. The performing part of the 75 cents Strop warranted SUPERIOR to any other in use, or the money returned. Sold wholesale and retail at 102 William-st.

SUMMER DRINK.—We would remind our readers of the healthy and delightful summer beverage prepared by Messrs. Sands, No. 79 and 80 Fulton-st. It is by far superior to all other Soda drinks, possessing, as it does, valuable medicinal properties, in addition to those which make it so agreeable. It is a perfect substitute for stimulating drinks, and the friends of temperance will find it just the thing for renovating the physical frame, and infusing renewed health and vigor.

TEMPERANCE DRINK.—The most delectable and healthy summer drink that can be obtained is Sand's Sarsaparilla Mead, which every one can prepare for themselves from the Syrup in a glass of cold or iced water. Its flavor is delightful. From N. Y. Tatler, Grocers generally.

Prepared and sold at wholesale and retail, and for exportation, by A. B. & D. Sands, Druggists, 79 and 80 Fulton-st and 77 East Broadway; sold also by Gassey & Young, 132 Chatham-st. Price 50 cents per gallon.

THE GREATEST LUMINARY IN THE WORLD, EXCEPT THE SUN.—The subscriber would respectfully call the attention of the public to TOUGH'S PATENT LAMPS for Store, Hall, &c. One of these Lamps gives as much light as three gas burners, and will cost but one cent per hour. The great improvement in these Lamps over all others is the flame—and of course the light can be increased and diminished at pleasure, by raising or lowering a plate, without increasing the consumption of light.

Those who have burned gas will appreciate the saving of expense where these lamps are used. The public are respectfully invited to call at 145 Fulton-st. where they can see them in use, and can examine for themselves.

N. B.—There is no more danger from these Lamps than from the common oil lamps. The liquid used is the spirits of resin. J. B. 2nd
